Since 1946

Darouse House Moving was founded and domiciled in Hammond Louisiana in 1946 by Richard Darouse Sr. The company became Darouse Inc. in 1995 under the direction of Richard Darouse Jr. and most recently (2010) as Darouse Foundations LLC under the ownership of Jeff Darouse.

The company moved to Virginia in the early 50's and was there for 3 years under the management of Richard Darouse and his brothers before moving back to Hammond, Louisiana.

Following Hurricane Camille in 1969, the company helped homeowners in Mississippi recover from the storm with financial assistance from the Federal government. With this assistance, Darouse provided homeowners with services that included lifting and moving homes after they had shifted. Homes moved off their original foundations were corrected. Other services such as elevating and moving homes to other locations were also performed on a regular basis.

Darouse was contracted and moved all portable school buildings in Livingston Parish from 1976 to 1986, in Washington parish from 1980 into the early 90's. In St. Tammany Parish Darouse moved classrooms from school to school for more than 30 years beginning in 1977.

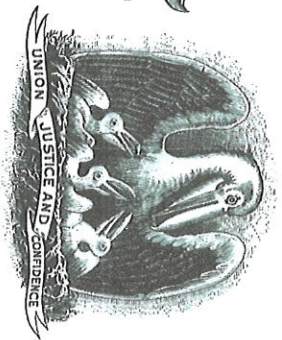

In 1992, Darouse moved all the buildings on the property of Coastal Petroleum in Hammond, Louisiana to facilitate its operations.

In 2008, Darouse began assisting homeowners in the road home program as well as the Hazard Mitigation Grant program in 2010. Services include disconnecting and reconnecting plumbing, gas, electrical and A/C, raising homes to meet the new BFE standard, building new foundations to meet parish or city codes and new steps, decks and porches.

In December of 2010, Darouse was selected to elevate Southeastern Louisiana University's Biological Research Station on North Pass, Manchac. More commonly known as "Turtle Cove," the two story building dates back to the prohibition era of the 1920's when it served as a casino. Accessible only by boat and using a barge to transport steel beams and equipment, Darouse partnered with J.W. Grand General Contractors of Baton Rouge, La. to successfully restore the building that was badly damaged by Hurricane Katrina and other storms over the years.

Darouse Foundations is fortunate to have 1 employee with more than 13 years of experience in the Shoring, Elevation and House Moving business and 3 with more than 18 years including Earnest Williams who has been elevating and moving homes for over 39 years and is an original member of the Darouse House Moving family.
